

Trent Brown

Trent is the author of Farmers, Subalterns, and Activists: Social Politics of Sustainable Agriculture in India (Cambridge University Press, 2018). He has written on a variety of topics related to contemporary India, including sustainable rural development, social movements, youth, and migration. His current research explores India's attempts to introduce formal skill development initiatives for the rural sector.