

Dr Haripriya Rangan

Dr Haripriya (Priya) Rangan is Associate Professor and Principal Fellow of the School of Geography, The University of Melbourne. Her research spans political ecology, environmental history, regional development, and natural resource management in various parts of the Indian Ocean region, including South Africa, India, and northwest Australia.

Priya has a background in architecture, urban planning and regional development and has taught at UCLA, UC Berkeley, University of Kentucky in the USA, and at RMIT and Monash University in Australia. Between 2016 and 2020, she served as Director of Academic and Research Programs and Principal Consultant for Government Projects and Research Engagement at the Australia India Institute, and was responsible for all major policy-related research and projects on the bilateral relationship between Australia and India.